

Greetings from our new home! We are working hard getting the studios unpacked and look forward to kicking-off the first wave of Winter 2019 courses next week.

This message is to inform you our new premises at 24 Ryerson Avenue is not yet barrier-free due to a delay in the construction of a wheelchair accessible entrance ramp at the main entrance (north side of building).

We will keep everyone informed about completion date.

Barrier description: The temporary entrance at 24 Ryerson Ave. has 3 steps to enter the building, and 6 steps with a railing to the main floor.

Additional Notes:

- There is an elevator on the main floor of the building to access the upper levels in addition to the main stairwell.
- There are barrier-free, gender-neutral washrooms on each floor.
- TSA's small, onsite parking lot is still under construction. Click here to learn about nearby parking and transit options.

We recognize physical barriers may prevent attendance and participation in our programming until the entrance ramp is finished. We deeply apologize.

Please contact the office immediately with any questions and concerns about your Winter course registration based on this update. We are committed to accommodating everyone as best we can.

Sincerely,

TSA Office Team
