Dear TSA Fall 2020 In-Person Students,

With the recent announcement of the new COVID-19 measures in Toronto, there have been questions as to whether TSA will remain open through the remainder of our Fall 2020 Term.

The Toronto School of Art will remain open for in-person classes through to the end of the Fall Term.

Should provincial and/or municipal regulations for school closures change to preclude TSA from opening, we will of course follow those directions and be in touch with you as to how we will move forward.

We remain dedicated to providing a safe and healthy environment in which to offer classes including deep cleaning protocols, physical distancing, small class sizes, hand sanitizer stations throughout the school and mandatory mask wearing while on-site. We thank you for your participation in helping to keep TSA as safe during this time.

Thank you for your continued support of the Toronto School of Art - we look forward to seeing you as we wrap up the final classes of 2020.
